

Dr. Valerii M.Monakhov, Associate Professor, Chairperson. Founder and originator of the first in Russia Institute of Liberal Arts and Sciences - an innovative scientific center for fundamental and applied interdisciplinary research in the field of general scientific methodology, educational policy, modern educational technologies, sciences and methodology of liberal education, humanities and social sciences. Head of the Center for Liberal Education at St. Petersburg State University, which implements the principles of liberal education in the framework of the classical bachelor program. The initiator of the introduction of technologies and methods of liberal education in school education, teacher training, advanced training in higher educational institutions. Specialist in the history of social ideas and US foreign policy, the author of numerous articles on contemporary problems of pedagogy and the internationalization of education.

E-mail: vmonakhov@herzen.spb.ru