

Galaktionova Tat'yana G., Doctor of pedagogical Sciences, associate Professor, Professor of UNESCO Chair, Professor of the Institute of Pedagogy of St. Petersburg State University, expert of the Center for Russian language and Slavistics of the Russian Academy of education, member of the expert Council of the program "Literary arts", Educational Center "Sirius". Talent and Success Foundation, head of the all-Russian project "School of reading volunteers", grant of the President of the Russian Federation, laureate of the St. Petersburg Government award for outstanding achievements in the field of higher and secondary vocational education. Author of more than 150 publications. Areas of scientific interest: educational technologies of active learning, development of culture of children's and youth reading, working with literary gifted students.