

Vladimir V. Okrepilov, PhD, Economic Sciences, Professor, Honored Scientist and Engineer of the Russian Federation, Academician of the Russian Academy of Sciences. Founder and Head of the only Russian school of Economics of quality, the development of which is used in the activities of the European quality organization, the European Foundation for quality management, the International network of certification of management systems IQNET. One of the first in RF applied methods of Metrology, Standardization in the field of Nanotechnology and proposed a quality management mechanism at the national level. Under his leadership, for the first time in RF, the composition of innovative methods of standardization, metrology and conformity assessment tools used to manage the components of the quality of life in the new digital society was determined; a generalized scheme of interaction of the components of the socio-economic system in the transition to the digital economy was developed. The main directions of fundamental scientific research: theoretical foundations of the economy of quality; methods of quality management in modern conditions; models of application of standardization, metrology and conformity assessment at all levels of management; functioning of a multi-level system of continuous training in the Economics of quality. Founder, editor-in-chief and member of the editorial boards of numerous scientific and technical journals.

e-mail: okrepilov@test-spb.ru