

New Master's Degree Programme
“Modern Linguistics in Theory and Practice” opens in 2020!

Institute of Foreign Languages (Herzen University) invites applications for its new Master's degree Programme “Modern Linguistics in Theory and Practice” taught in English.

The programme modules cover a wide range of key notions, core problems and research approaches to linguistics. They focus on: Methodology of Language Studies, Linguistics and Discourse Studies, Linguistics and Text Studies, Linguistics and Cultural Studies, Linguistics in Interdisciplinary Studies.

You will:

- gain insights into the ways language works under different modes of communication;
- get tools to understand the ways language is shaped by diverse social and cultural contexts;
- work on your Master's thesis to get a degree that is tailored to your interests and career aspirations.

Our courses will strengthen your professional skills in critical thinking and knowledge production, text analysis and discourse analysis, Academic English and project work.

Join our Master's degree programme to benefit from studying in one of Russia's top universities located in the very heart of Saint Petersburg, the most beautiful and second largest Russian city!

Course length: 2 years to earn 120 ECTS

Language of Instruction: English

Language level required: B2 and above.

Apply at: <https://www.herzen.spb.ru/abiturients/pk>